

Improving the HIV Care Continuum to End the Epidemic: The Role of the MidAtlantic AETC

A Plan for America is a nationwide initiative by the CDC, NIH, and HRSA that involves four key strategies for intervention: Diagnose, Treat, Prevent, and Respond. At the MAAETC¹, we are committed to this plan and work to share resources, gain input, develop innovative approaches, and coordinate these efforts among our regional stakeholders, Ryan White programs, FQHCs, government agencies, CBOs, other federal training centers, health departments, and the DHHS to build capacity, increase access, reduce disparities in access.

This model addresses all key components of FH, PT, IPE, CEE, MAI, and EHE.
