

Ending the HIV Epidemic: The Journey Continues

Honoring the Life and Legacy of Dr. John G. Bartlett

Virtual via Zoom

Third Tuesday of the Month

Time: 9am-10am ET

Upcoming Memorial Webinar Series

The MidAtlantic AETC invites you to join us for a virtual event series honoring the life and legacy of Dr. John G. Bartlett, a national pioneer of HIV research and treatment.

Dr. Bartlett was also a Co-Principal Investigator for the Johns Hopkins site of the MAAETC from 2000 to 2015 and contributed significantly to the ongoing education for our training participants. This monthly webinar series will feature colleagues and friends of Dr. Bartlett and will discuss his many contributions to the field of HIV/AIDS.

First Webinar - Tuesday, May 18th, 2021 at 9:00am ET

Keynote Speaker:

Richard E. Chaisson, MD

Professor of Medicine, Epidemiology and International Health

Director, Center for AIDS Research

Director, Center for Tuberculosis Research

School of Medicine and Bloomberg School of Public Health

Johns Hopkins University

By the end of this webinar, participants will be able to:

- Describe Dr. John Bartlett's contribution to HIV clinical care and research throughout the past 30 years
- Discuss what can be learned from Dr. John Bartlett's legacy at the Moore Clinic and beyond
